Any person who maintains a permanent business location or branch offices within the city and who engages in or manages any business, profession or occupation within the city, and any person who transacts any business or engages in any occupation or profession in interstate commerce where such tax is not prohibited by Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution, shall, prior to engaging in or managing said business, profession or occupation, procure from the city clerk a receipt for business tax.

Any person holding himself out to the public by sign, printed matter, internet website, telephone directory classified section or otherwise as being engaged in business within the City of Key Colony Beach, or as offering services or property to the public for a consideration, regardless of whether such person actually transacts any business or practices a profession, shall be considered as engaging in business and shall be liable for a business tax thereon.

Sec. 9-2. - Duration, expiration; partial year taxes.

Business tax payment shall be for one (1) year and shall be due on September 30 of each year, except as otherwise provided by law. Business tax from April 1 to the end of the fiscal year shall be at one-half (½) the stated rate.

Sec. 9-3. - When sold, due and payable, delinquency penalty.

All tax payments to the city clerk shall be due and payable in advance before September 30 of each year, and expire on September 30 of the succeeding year. If September 30 falls on a weekend or holiday, the tax is due and payable on or before the first working day following September 30. Those taxes not paid when due and payable are delinquent and subject to a delinquency penalty of ten (10) per cent for the month of October, plus an additional five (5) per cent penalty for each subsequent month of delinquency until paid. However, the total delinquency penalty may not exceed twenty-five (25) per cent of the tax for the delinquent business, occupation or profession.

Any person who engages in any business, occupation, or profession covered by this chapter, who does not pay the required tax within one hundred fifty (150) days and the initial notice of tax due, and who does not obtain the required receipt is subject to code board actions, civil actions and penalties, including court costs, reasonable attorneys' fees, additional administrative costs incurred as a result of collection efforts, and a penalty of up to two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00).

Sec. 9-4. - Doing business without a license.

Any person who engages in or manages any business, occupation or profession without first paying the tax, if required, is subject to a penalty of twenty-five (25) per cent of the tax due, in addition to any other penalty provided by section 1-9 and section 9-3.

Sec. 9-5. - Application, compliance with state and county requirements required.

Before the city shall be required to issue a tax receipt, it shall be the duty of the applicant to file an application with the city. Such application shall be in the form required by the city. Applicant must furnish evidence satisfactory to the city clerk that the applicant has complied with all city, state and county requirements concerning the occupation for which the tax is paid and that any unpaid fees and fines for violations have been paid.

Sec. 9-6. - Violations.

Violations of the provisions of this chapter shall be punishable by a fine of up to two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) per day, and may result in a suspension or revocation of a business tax receipt. Alleged violations shall be referred to the code enforcement board.

Sec. 9-7. - Inspection required before issuance.

The building official shall conduct an inspection of the premises where any business is to be conducted whenever an application is submitted in order to ensure that the premises are in compliance with all applicable codes. The city may charge an administrative fee for the inspection referenced above; the amount of which shall be set by resolution of the city commission. No tax receipt will be issued until the business entity is in compliance with all city codes.

Do not feed scraps.

NEVER cut the line if you hook a pelican.

Don't cut it. Net it!

Instead, place a net under the pelican, reel it in, cut the barb from the hook and push it through backwards to remove.

No cortes. Usa la red.

En cambio, coloque una red por debajo del pelicano, enrolle el carrete, corte la púa del anzuelo y quite el resto del anzuelo en reversa.

I don't understand how interacting with manatees can be harmful to them. They're so big! I could never hurt them and besides, if they don't like it, they could just swim away.

Disturbance from human activity can cause manatees to leave a warm water area, putting them in harm's way from cold exposure or nearby vessel traffic. Disturbance can also cause manatees to expend precious energy milling around to avoid contact or interaction within a warm water area.

I think the best way for people to appreciate manatees is to see them up close and personal. It's a way to get people interested in helping them.

Save the Manatee Club believes the best way to appreciate manatees is from a respectful distance. Natural manatee behavior can be disrupted by humans who approach manatees too closely. People should never approach, chase, surround, touch, disturb, ride, or poke manatees, give them food or water, or engage in any action that could separate a mother and calf. By observing manatees at a distance we have the best chance to observe natural behaviors, giving us a glimpse into the lives of these interesting creatures. We believe that is the best way for people to learn about manatees.

Why is it so bad if a mother and calf get separated?

Manatee calves are dependent on their mothers for up to two years. Not only do mothers feed their calves, but they also teach them essential survival skills. Calves who are separated from their mothers may not be reunited. For example, if a mother swims away while a calf is being petted, the calf may not find its way back to her and could ultimately die without her.

Manatee Q&A

I've been in the water before with manatees and some of them come right up to me and roll over to have their bellies scratched. It seems to me like they enjoy it.

Manatees who exhibit this behavior may have been "tamed" from previous interactions with other humans. As appealing as it may seem to interact with manatees, we have to always keep in mind what is best for them. For their own protection, wild animals need to stay wild to survive.

What is wrong with feeding manatees or giving them water?

Feeding manatees or giving them water is a behavior modification and changes to their feeding patterns. Manatees may expect, harass, or feed items that are not a natural diet. They may also lose their fear of humans and approach a boat expecting only to be injured or killed by a propeller or entangled in fishing gear. Manatees also tend to feed on the vegetation that gets wrapped around your boat for manatees.

I always put out a hose for manatees at the marina because they look thirsty. Since they are in salt water, I assume they need it.

Manatees can be found in fresh, brackish, or salt water and do not need to drink fresh water every day. Manatees are skilled at finding sources of fresh water as they travel. Encouraging manatees to approach boats or docks to drink from a hose changes their wild behavior and could put them in harm's way.

I've heard there may not be enough natural seagrass for manatees. I need to feed them to help them survive.

While seagrass beds may be declining in some regions of the state, there is enough vegetation to sustain a healthy manatee population. In addition to seagrass, manatees also eat other submerged, floating, and emergent plants. Nevertheless, it is important to continue to protect seagrass from pollution and propeller scarring and support other seagrass recovery efforts.

I don't understand how throwing a few things in the water can harm a great, big animal like a manatee.

Debris in waterways, such as discarded plastic bags, soap containers, fishing hooks, or monofilament line is dangerous to manatees and other forms of wildlife. Litter, especially plastic litter that does not degrade, can get tangled in plants that manatees eat, and manatees can become entangled in or accidentally ingest these plastics or other foreign objects. When manatees swallow a

Mind Your Manatee Manners

If you see manatees while swimming, snorkeling, diving, or boating, please follow these suggestions:

🚫 Look, but don't touch. Avoid excess noise and splashing.

🚫 Practice "passive observation" and observe manatees from above water and at a distance.

🚫 Resist the urge to feed manatees or give them water.

🚫 Splash your trash. Discard monofilament line, hooks, and other trash properly.

🚫 Do not enter designated manatee sanctuaries for any reason.

Call 1-888-404-3922, #FWC, or FWC, email or text FWC@fldfwc.com or use VHF Channel 16 on your marine radio if you see an injured, dead, tagged, or orphaned manatee, or if you see a manatee being harassed.

🚫 By quietly observing manatees, you will get a rare opportunity to see the natural behavior of these unique animals.

Manatees are protected under federal law by the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (ESA) and the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 (MMPA). These laws make it illegal to harass, harm, hunt, capture, or kill any marine mammal. Manatees are also protected by the Florida Manatee Sanctuary Act of 1978. Feeding manatees, giving them water, or otherwise altering their behavior can be considered harassment. It is also against the law to intentionally discard monofilament fishing line or netting into Florida waters.
